Associate Professor of European Law

e-mail: mperakis@law.uoa.gr

Manolis Perakis completed his undergraduate studies at the University of Athens (2001) and his post-graduate studies at both the University College London (LLM, 2002) and the University of Athens (PhD, 2008). In 2003, he served as trainee in the Cabinet of the Greek judge and President of the Court Mr. Vassilios Skouris. Manolis Perakis is currently teaching EU Law in the University of Athens as Associate Professor. His areas of interest are EU institutional and internal market law, EU human rights protection law, EU external relations law, Economic and Monetary Union, and the EU Court of Justice case-law. He is the author of several monographs and articles, and he has given lectures in the framework of national and international conferences.

Manolis Perakis also practices law as attorney-at-law. He is a senior associate in a law firm and he is actively involved in all public procurement and privatisation transactions, advising mainly on EU and administrative law aspects. Furthermore, he is involved in numerous ICC and local arbitrations as the Court's assistant.

Manolis Perakis is currently the Editor-in-Chief of "European Politeia", a bi-annual journal of European law, public affairs and society published by the European Public Law Organization under the scientific supervision of the Greek Center of European Studies and Research (EKEME) of the EPLO. He is also a member of the Board of the "Association of Scientists of European Studies", as well as a member of the "Hellenic the Hellenic Association of European Law", the "Greek Association of International Law and International Affairs", and of the "Association of Greek Commercialists"

Since 2014 he is academic supervisor to the Athens Law School's student team in the annual "European Law Moot Court Competition".
